Summer reading is a traditional pastime, but this year it will be something special. OLLI folks are invited to participate in The Great American Read, a program sponsored by the Public Broadcasting System (PBS). What could be more enticing to our members who want to stay active and keep their minds sharp?

PBS is holding a vote to identify the most beloved American book. They have recently released a list of 100 of the favorite fiction books written from past years to the present. Beginning on May 22nd, a series of eight programs presented by authors, readers and commentators will air on the PBS channel. These people will talk about the enjoyment of books and reading and tell us more about how the nation-wide voting process will work. There will be an additional series of eight programs again in the fall. Then on October 23rd the votes will be tallied and the most beloved book will be announced. The list of 100 books can be seen at: http://www.pbs.org/the-great-american-read/books/#

OLLI will also participate in The Great American Read by having a course in the Fall term. In each class session two books from the PBS list will be discussed. These discussions will be presented by an OLLI member who will give a short bio about the author, a brief synopsis of the plot, and the reason why they selected that particular book as one of their favorites.

The fall course will be lead by Betty Koval and Gratia Mahony, both of whom are avid readers. Betty and Gratia are looking for two presenters for each of the eight Fall class sessions. So there will be an opportunity for sixteen people to spotlight their book selections for the entire class. If you would like to discuss your book selection during the course this fall, please contact Betty or Gratia or email the OLLI Director, Rebecca Duke at rebecca.duke@uah.edu.

I look forward to hearing that you will join the fun and participate in The Great American Read.

Gratia Mahony, President of OLLI.

OLLI Remembers Dr. Laurence B. (Larry) Rice

The OLLI Community was saddened to learn of the passing of Dr. Laurence B. Rice (Larry) on March 22, 2018. Larry was a former OLLI Board member and instructor. He is survived by his wife, Betty, four children and five grandchildren. Many of you might remember Betty’s moving Bonus session several years ago in which she related the challenges and satisfaction of being able to keep Larry in their home throughout his increasing disability from Parkinson’s. Memorials can be made to the Huntsville Parkinson’s Support Group or the Huntsville-Madison County Library.

OLLI is seeking a volunteer to be the OLLI Insider newsletter editor. Please contact Jerry Pang at pang7713@gmail.com.

The OLLI Volunteer Office is looking for volunteers to staff the office for a two hour period during terms. It is a good way to learn the how OLLI works. Contact Irene Garoppo at igraroppo@knology.net.
Recently I attended an opening lecture by an artist friend who had an exhibit opening at our Huntsville Museum of Art. In his explanation of his work and inspiration, he mentioned a couple of words that reflect his philosophy in his paintings—“repetition and connections”. In the days immediately following this lecture and exhibit opening, our spring term began and I found myself going back to those words.

OLLI offers repetition and connections for me.

Although I enjoy the breaks, I look forward to returning to class. I like the ebb and flow of our curriculum terms. The routine and repetition give some structure to my retirement life. I know my way around campus and, in particular, Wilson Hall. I know there will always be coffee in the OLLI lounge and often delicious snacks to tempt me. I know that I will be challenged and delighted to stretch my mind and learn something new because I have been taking classes now for thirteen years. And, yes, as I synthesize my years of experience and quest, I think I am beginning to make some connections—especially in fields I enjoy such as history, literature, and psychology.

But perhaps, the most fun is making those connections with people. I am definitely a social animal, so I look forward to seeing old friends each term, and I am always meeting new people in classes and at numerous OLLI events. It is amazing to share stories and quirky tidbits of information with new and old friends and OLLI gives me ample opportunity for such connections.

I hope that you are enjoying important connections with people and ideas through your OLLI experience and especially in classes this term. Our Curriculum committee has done an excellent job of providing stimulating course for us throughout the year. And while they are working on Fall Term, our OLLI Program Director, Rebecca Duke, along with other College of Professional and Continuing Studies personnel, has an exciting summer term planned for us. Be sure to check out the variety of experiences they have planned for summer term and see how many friends you can entice to come and make connections with OLLI offerings and people.

Take the Challenge—Think Outside the Box

Take the challenge. Think outside the box. Step outside your comfort zone. These are sayings we’ve probably all heard most of our lives. A lot of people in our age group may be closer to thinking “you can’t teach an old dog new tricks”. Not true! Based on the number of seniors involved in lifelong learning opportunities across the nation, seniors are yearning to learn new things.

Here’s the challenge for each of you: Think outside the box and step out of your comfort zone when registering for fall term this year. Usually take history classes? Sign up for an art or music course. Have a background in science or engineering? Try a foreign language. If you’re a person who is happy sitting back and listening to people discuss current events, look into Socrates Café or Rumble Strips: Dangerous Ideas Ahead. Always curious about why people are fascinated by chess, bridge or quilting? Classes are offered for all of these; check one out or go out on a limb and try all of them!

Whatever your interests or wish you knew something about, OLLI has something for you. So take the plunge, think outside the box, reach for the stars and challenge yourself with something new.

OLLI’s Scholarship Recipient

On April 10th, UAH scholarship donors and recipients gathered for the annual Scholarship Dinner in the Student Services Building to commemorate the 2017-2018 academic year. As a scholarship granting organization, OLLI at UAH was represented by director, Rebecca Duke. The recipient of this year’s OLLI scholarship was Ms. Christy Baker. Christy is an accounting major at UAH. After her mother fell into poor health when Christy first started UAH, Christy quit her college courses in order to take care of her. In doing so, she lost all of the academic scholarships she obtained after high school. She started a full-time job in the Huntsville Hospital business office to help support herself and her mother. Still intent on completing her degree, Christy looked into options for returning to school. She credits the OLLI scholarship with seeing her dream to fruition. The OLLI Scholarship allowed her the financial support to begin classes once again. Christy is now attending school at UAH full-time while working at the hospital.

Donations to the OLLI scholarship fund help make a difference in the lives of non-traditional students on campus. Consider donating today on the OLLI at UAH website..
